City Will Start Water Main Work On Avenue E

Plans for the installation of a 12 inch water main on Avenue E were made and arrangements set to complete the transaction on the water works bonds at the city council meeting Wednesday.

City Manager Clarence Robinson read a letter from Stephen R. Middleton, county engineer, which stated that water improvements on Avenue E should be completed before street paving was started there.

Robinson also pointed out that he was having difficulty financing the $500,000 water works bond issue. He said that if certain outstanding bonds were retired, the present $170,000 would be taken back and released as first issue bonds along with the $500,000.

The firm, Royal Neighbors of America of Chicago held the present bonds. B. J. Van Ingen is fiscal agent.

Meanwhile the city will go ahead with existing funds to install a 12 inch water main from 10th Street to Coastal Motors.

B. A. Roemer appeared before the council to say that he planned to submit bids on the swimming pools contracts; however, he explained that he found confusing and ambiguous statements in the contracts which, he said, might prevent contractors from submitting the lowest bids possible.

The commission agreed to permit Roemer to act as a city advisor with the city manager in a discussion with the architect and engineer to clear up possible stumbling blocks in negotiations with contractors.

In other action the commission:

Told O. G. McWhorter to circulate a petition among property owners on East Lake Road and return it to the council before they could act to rezone that street which is in Flood Control District property.

Authorized the city manager to buy forms and build concrete street signs to comply with a request from the local post office.

Learned that the recreation bond issue of $200,000 would be delivered to the city manager (Continued on Page Eight)

JOB and WORKER

J. W. Mosley, Jr., Representative Florida State Employment Service

To The Fathers: Baseball season is here. Efforts are being made to organize a little league of six teams and a pony league of four teams. I know of no better recreation for boys in the summer time than this activity. The men that give their time and efforts to insure the success of this venture are to be commended. There is room for your son to play so if he is not registered, have him obtain an application from Coach Goodwin at the Junior High School. By registering early, the correct number of teams may be organized so that everyone can play. There might also be a place for you to spend some of your excess energy and really have a good time too. There is need for managers, coaches and other officials. Let's all get behind this program. There is also a good chance that your participation will make you a big man in the eyes of your son.

The Long Beach. The Eastern Seaboard Labor Representatives were in this area Saturday and Monday. About 110 contractors and crew leaders received commitments for summer work. If you were unable to contact them and wish to carry a crew north this summer (Continued on Page Eight)

Wet Pavement Causes Car To Slip Into Canal

Two Alabama residents were slightly injured when their car skidded on wet pavement at 8:20 p. m. Wednesday night and careened into the canal on SR 80 west of Belle Glade.

The two men in the car were able to break windows and escape with only cut hands.

Florida Highway Patrolman R. G. Russell said the driver, Russell Bennett, Jr., had applied brakes to stop for a turning car ahead of him. The brakes held improperly.

The driver and passenger, Pasco Daniels, who are temporary residents of Boynton Beach, were treated and released from Belle Glade Memorial Hospital.

Noise Making Cracker Helps Glades Farmers

Ralph Marotta, a mechanic with Hendry County Agency has invented and produced and is selling an instrument for disturbing the gastronomic privacies of the blackbird which causes a great deal of damage to corn growers of the Glades.

Despite the professional opinion of engineers that it is impractical to fire acetylene gas with a sparkplug reproduce disturbing noises. Mr. Marotta did, and plans to continue to do just that.

Evidence of the proficiency of the instrument, which is called a "Cracker", is borne out in the purchase this week of several by local farmers, Ott Larson of Clewiston, Sam Knight and Mutt Thomas, with an order coming in for ten, to agitate, disturb and chase away.

Driver Dies From Burns In $40,000 South Bay Blaze

Complete estimates of damage have not been made on the gasoline fire at the South Bay Truck Stop on April 4. The tanks, a total loss, still contain several gallons of gasoline and diesel fuel. The smoldering ruins at the left are all that remain of the two dwellings owned by James Sumnerlin. The activity after the fire marled traffic through South Bay on U. S. 27.

Paul A. Talbert, 41 of Pompano Beach, died Saturday night after 80% of his body was burned as he stood operating the pump when it exploded.

Fire Department units from South Bay, Belle Glade, Hendry County and Everglades Fire County were present and prevented spread of the fire which destroyed two dwellings, the storage tanks, the gasoline transport and thousands of gallons of gasoline and diesel fuel.

The news of the fire on the property of James Sumnerlin caused Sumnerlin to suffer a slight heart attack. He was taken to Belle Glade Memorial Hospital for treatment and observation and released Sunday.

The gasoline transport belonging to the Petroleum Carriers Corporation of Jacksonville was a total loss although some engine parts were salvaged. Total loss of the truck and trailer will amount to approximately $28,000.

Two tanks of gasoline and diesel fuel storage tanks ranging in size from 6,000 to 30,000 gallons capacity were declared total losses; however, no estimate of the amount of gasoline lost from them is available.

The transport was carrying 7,000 gallons of gasoline. The fire and a portion of it was burned.

First estimates of the loss claim nearly 9,000 gallons of gasoline and diesel fuel burned. The storage installation was valued at $100,000.

Parts of the rear of the South Bay Truck Stop building were damaged to the approximate (Continued on Page Eight)

Who Dynamited The Okeelanta Bridge?

It begins now to look, as though the people of Okeelanta will soon be able to cross the North River Canal without swimming. After many months of suspended activity, the site is swarming with construction men laying steel girders on the concrete pilings, pouring a cement deck and setting up railings.

This bridge is an important link in the road along Bolles Canal and its absence during the growing season has been a serious handicap to the farmers in that area. This bridge and its predecessors have, it seems, had more than their share of delays and vicissitudes. Previous to the start of construction of the present steel and concrete structure, the canal had been spanned by a single travelled wooden span for the past fifteen years. This bridge was removed last year to facilitate the deepening of the big canal by the Central and South Florida Flood Control District.

As long ago as last August the County Commission was needing the State to speed action on new bids. Then followed the inevitable delay in filling orders by the steel mill. Meanwhile there was no bridge.

But look at what these Okeelanta farmers have previously had to contend with in crossing the canal. Row boats, launches, a ferry barge, and then a fine new steel bridge that was dynamited before it was even erected.

Okeelanta was started in 1913 by Dr. Thomas E. Will and was the first settlement in the Glades away from the Lake shore and in the sawgrass. (There were already some people at Ritta, (Continued on page Four)

Avenue "E" And City Water Works Delay - A Shoe That Fits Whom?

Two improvement projects of general public interest have been discussed in Belle Glade for numerous months - maybe 20 or more!

Neither project has reached an effective stage of progress - one in the hands of the County Commission and one in the hands of the City Commission.

There is no appreciable and effective increase in the quality of the water, nor additional fire plugs or insurance of pressure available to the fire department.

Neophytes in experience, effort and effective results have "blown their tops" in the public print recently about the paving of Avenue "E" no doubt for palliation of feelings, both personal and political.

Pertinent facts on both issues are available for the asking. We've asked our "best" friends "dope" straight from the horses' mouths.

Just previous to, during and immediately after the election campaigns of last year, the County Commission discussed and committed itself definitely to the paving of Avenue "E". The State Road Department, on solicitation of the County Commission, included this item of $319,000 in the list of eight projects to be paid for by the issuance of tax anticipation bonds from 80% of the surplus of the fifth and sixth cent of gas tax money and from 80% of the seventh cent of the gas tax money.

A certain St. Petersburg fishing map publisher will have his ears pinned back as the result of a letter sent this week from the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce.

Seems Belle Glade was missing on the latest edition of the fishing map! Slim's Fish Camp, yes, Belle Glade, no.

Mrs. Edwina C. Young, executive secretary of the Chamber directed this fact to Mr. Rubel Allyn, publisher of "Rube Allyn's Crazy Fishing Map."

Mrs. Young's letter, which could become a classic in what might be termed "now see here, sir," literature, pointed out that the largest city on Lake Okeechobee isn't in the habit of being left out of otherwise excellent fishing maps.

She called Mr. Allyn's attention to the fact that one other "minor" detail was omitted. The second cross state water-

First Turtle Derby Held By Local Merchants

Those hustling turtles performed last Saturday at the Florida National Bank parking lot at 2 p. m. During the winners' finale, a turtle bearing the S. Michael card charged across the finish line first.

A sparse crowd watched through seven preliminary heats. Police Chief Charles Goldstein carried a pistol with blanks for a starting gun.

Winners of the preliminary races were Glades Shoe Shop,

Hooks & White, Lindsey Lumber Co., Dave's Palm Beach Shop, Harris Service Station and Shirley Brothers.

Alas, The Herald's turtle came in third in its heat despite the high-pitched, encouraging shouts of loudspeaker announcer Dick Houdey of the paper's staff.

Dick Poston, chairman of the turtle derby, said it was the feeling of the committee which sponsored the event that the merchants will take advantage of the opportunity to promote their business and provide entertainment through succeeding derbies held here.

just out of Clermont on Highway 27 sits on a high hill that affords a view of the countryside for miles and miles. This is the heart of the Florida citrus producing area and is a region of lakes and hills where thousands of acres of citrus groves form a blanket of green. Nowhere in the world can so many citrus trees be seen at one time, well over a million, row upon row they extend in fascinating patterns in all directions. It is a scenic wonderland that you will never forget.

An electric elevator carries you to the top of the giant structure and carillon bells ring at regular intervals adding their magic charm to the glorious scenic beauty of your surroundings. A fine gift shop and modern restaurant and lounge are operated in connection, located on the ground floor. I was thrill-new Lake Harbor. The following year, to facilitate selling his adjoining lands, Richard J. Bolles dug his 12 miles of canal crossing the New River (Ft. Lauderdale) and Miami Canals and bisecting the Oklawaha settlement. The first road ever projected from the East Coast to the Glades was to have run due west from Lake Worth to Oklawaha, using in part, the bank of this canal. Believe it or not, money for this road was raised three times but, as we know, the road has not yet been built.

Bolles finished his canal and roughly leveled canal bank in January 1916, but it became quite evident that the county had no intention of doing this poor grade. Consequently, a delegation of 18 irate citizens from Oklawaha made the 180 mile (each way) and four day trip to West Palm Beach via Ft. Lauderdale to protest. They found that at special road bond issue was formed and an election was called to vote a $150,000 bond issue. The only voting precinct in the Everglades was at Ritta, and in the whole Glades only 13 resident freeholders were eligible to vote, most of them being from Oklawaha. With the help of our 13 votes the bonds were voted, but the money did us no good. It was wasted in an unsuccessful attempt to build the road from West Palm Beach westward through the Lake Worth Slough, a project on which the contractors went broke.

In 1918 Dr. Lair was elected the first county commissioner from the Glades. With his help an additional $45,000 was raised and the road route shifted south to the solid banks of the Palm Beach Canal. By 1921 this had been paved to Loxahatchee Dairy and a muck grade—unleveled and without bridges—had been thrown up as far as Belle Glade, where a branch from Six Mile-Bend to Oklawaha, but the latter was impossible.

As an example of what a trip to the County Seat was like at that time, John Newhouse, the historian of Oklawaha, relates that in the spring of 1922, he accompanied a party who started at sun rise from Oklawaha. They drove to South Bay and crossed the canal on a small ferry-boat then drove south a mile to the dyke of what now is South Florida Conservancy District. This they followed to the Hillsboro Canal where, at Six Mile-Bend, a crossing was again made by barge. Dinner was eaten at the now-vanished village of Geerworth. Palm Beach Canal was crossed at Twenty-Mile-Bend and the party arrived in West Palm Beach just as the sun was setting. Both the dyke and the road grade had been roughly—by and meant roughly—levelled by the settlers, but by the time they got to the County Seat, it was impossible to reach the Court House on one day instead of the two required by boat via Ft. Lauderdale.

An additional $350,000.00 was voted in 1921 but was not sufficient to complete the road to the Glades, so in 1925 $990,000.00 more was voted. With this money seven identical, steel, one-way-traffic bridges were ordered, five of which were erected at Twenty-Mile-Bend, Six Mile-Bend, Belle Glade, South Bay and Canal Point. The one at Lake Harbor was installed considerably later. At Oklawaha the steel was merely unloaded on the canal bank. Meanwhile, the bank in West Palm Beach in which the road funds were deposited, closed its doors and the bond money was forever lost.

The Ft. Lauderdale Herald of November 9, 1925 noted that at Oklawaha the bridge tender's house had been erected and the bridge steel was on hand. And there it remained "on hand" for weary years, rusting and forgotten.

Now, it so happens that in the years subsequent the Glades were experiencing one of their recurring floods. Relief from Tallahassee was sure to be slow and likely to be unsatisfactory, so some of the Lake farmers, with their customary approach, sallied down the canal determined to remove the dam at Twenty-Mile-Bend. Upon their arrival there, to their dismay, they discovered that their expedition had been anticipated, and the Davis farmers had entrenched themselves with the avowed intention of protecting the dam. The Lake men, admitting defeat, returned to Oklawaha, and for lack of a better place, buried their several boxes of dynamite in a weed green field there.

In course of time a certain Riley Griffin, lately returned to the "Temporary Lock" in the Lauderdale canal, had returned to Oklawaha and decided to plant a crop in this same field. Being apprised of the dynamite, he removed it to what he considered to be a place of safety, that is, on the stack of bridge girders directly across the canal from J. M. Baker's store. This done he set fire to the grass and repaired to South Bay. During his absence, as might have been expected, the fire reached the powder boxes, reduced the bridge to twisted junk, and blew out all the windows in Oklawaha. Upon Griffin's return, Baker blamed him for the calamity. Griffin vehemently protested his innocence, declaring with undeniable cracker logic, that it could not have been his fault inasmuch as he was not even in town at the time of the blast. Words led to blows, and in the resulting scuffle both parties fell off the dock and the fracas ended in a damp down in the waters of the canal. The only tangible results were that Griffin removed to Belle Glade, Baker had to replace his window glass himself, and Oklawaha continued to be without a bridge until the wooden span was built in 1942.

Cabbage Palm Hearts

I remember cuttin' out cabbage palm hearts. Lots of folks don't even know about eating these hearts. It was a lot of work but it sure was fine eatin'. I hear they put a law against cuttin' trees on public land. I can see how they'd 'cause there sure was fine eatin' out of 'em. I hear they were too close to the road. I can see how they'd have cuttin' out all our young trees in a short time. I hear they were too close to the road. I can see how they'd have cuttin' out all our young trees in a short time. I hear they were too close to the road. I can see how they'd have cuttin' out all our young trees in a short time.

Weeklies Advertising Gains Exceed Dailies
Weekly newspapers today are the fastest-growing publications in the U. S., TIME says in a special report in a recent issue. "Metropolitan readers who daydream of retiring to a country paper have long viewed weeklies more as a rural retreat than as an influential segment of the press," TIME says. "But with the swift growth of suburbs and small towns since World War II, weeklies have rapidly shed their cracker-barrel ways, developed sophistication and a new sense of mission."

Editorial Vitality
Weekly Newspaper Representatives, Inc., last week reported that 8,478 weeklies in the U. S. in 1956 reached a paid circulation peak of 18,329,199, up 4.5% over 1955. Estimated gain for the 1,700 dailies (total circ. more than 56 million) about 2%. Advertising in weeklies increased 1.2% to a record of $112 million; this includes a 30% jump to $425 million in national ads since 1954 vs. an estimated 10% gain for dailies. The weeklies' resurgence reflects editorial as well as economic vitality," TIME says. "In addition to relaying the backfence chit-chat on which weeklies have traditionally thrived, the papers are the only interpreters and watchdogs of local government in hundreds of U. S. communities, whose problems, aims and achievements go largely unrecorded in the metropolitan press."

AVENUE "E" AND CITY
money in the bank, which it did. The next step was to have right-of-way plans and actual construction plans prepared. The State Road Department began to secure the services of a private firm, Maurice Connell and Associates of Miami for the necessary engineering work.

On March 11th Stephen R. Middleton, County Engineer, reported to the County Commission that the right-of-way map was 50% completed and the road plans 35% completed.

On April 8th the Ft. Lauderdale engineer's office of the State Road Department reported that the right-of-way map was 80% completed, the road plans 50% completed, the road right-of-way map would be in the hands of Ft. Lauderdale officials within one week from that date. The map must be sent to Tallahassee for final approval of both right-of-way and road plans, when work would be begun on securing of the necessary right-of-way.

Of the eight projects, one is under contract, two are ready for letting. Of the five left, Avenue "E" project is nearest ready for letting.

Water Works
Top engineers, so proclaimed by the County Commission, have several times prepared plans for Belle Glade's water works designed for needs for the foreseeable future from ten years to twenty years. Each succeeding plan did this "for sure"—none did.

Chief L. E. Will has long and continuously pointed out the inefficiencies of water pressure location of hydrants and facilities for adequately protecting residences and particularly the community's life blood—drinking house facilities. Correction has been the subject of discussion of many defeated election candidates to the City Commission.

Engineers have been employed, and plans drawn and drawn for correction of our water supply system, which has as its source Florida's largest body of fresh water, Lake Okeechobee.

Similar procedure was necessary for Belle Glade's City Commission in securing the money for the water system. Arrangements were negotiated and a fiscal agent employed. Brochures were printed but accumulated dust in the city's office.

New plans were prepared, or are being prepared and nobody seems to know just what plans are offered, or are to be offered to the public on the correction of deficiencies and evils of the water system.

Meanwhile, the local Water Department is doing what it can to remedy glaring deficiencies with whatever money is available.

The fact remains that we live on the shores of the greatest available fresh water source in the southern US, have a community "bustin it's briches" in growth, with money available in the present Republican artificially-created tight money market, and still have what many term "a lousy water supply."

Providing us proper water is the business of the City Commission! It's been discussed and discussed for years! Nothing definite is in sight yet.

Providing rebuilding of Avenue "E" is the function of the County Commission; it's been the subject of debate that the city has plans for water distribution piping as well as sanitary sewer-

The reasons are not clear to a lot of folks, mainly because they don't understand the ramifications of political commitments, financing, designing, planning and letting contracts.

Maybe the County Commission is negligent on Avenue "E," maybe the City Commission is negligent on the water works. Whom does the shoe of DELAY fit? City or County Commission, could both wear it appropriately.

Could one Commission appropriately wear a "soft" one and the other a "hard" one? We understand that the city has plans for water distribution piping as well as sanitary sewerage facilities in this street. If this is the case, it would be very advisable for these underground utilities to be put in place before the street is rebuilt.

"If this office can be of any assistance to you in connection with this matter, please feel free to call on us."

"I am taking the liberty of forwarding a copy of this letter to the State Road Department at Fort Lauderdale."

Anyhow the County Commission has sent the City Commission a letter from which we quote:

Yes, WHOM DOES THE SHOE OF DELAY properly fit?
